

Let's Get Started

Creative Business System has devised a system for learning the art of Web design and development coupled with a unique and innovative marketing strategy to sell the product. The goal is to make the process as simple and straightforward as possible while limiting your investment of time and money.

This introductory overview will help you determine whether this can be a viable source of income for you or someone you know. This work is well suited for any who are interested in flexible part, or full-time work from any location. The marketing concepts provide for unlimited earning potential, both as a telemarketer (sales person) and, or a developer (webmaster).

Let's get started by viewing our main sales ad at customerpreview.com followed by a brief introductory presentation for those interested in joining our team. If you haven't already seen this video, it's at customerpreview.com/intro.

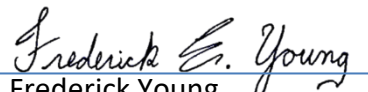

After watching these 2 videos, listen to a mockup telephone conversation that details exactly what a telemarketer will say in their phone sales presentation. This audio is found at customerpreview.com/audio This audio can be used for training purposes along with the script found at customerpreview.com/audio-script.

After listening to the audio, you will be invited to watch a 12-minute video at customerpreview.com/marketers where we will reveal one of our many trade secrets. This video should help you to see how our telemarketers can potentially sell multiple web site a day and how our processes and products are truly unique.

The next step is to view the web sites that we will be marketing. Go to customerpreview.com/directory There you will find links to over 45 different industries that are queued up for marketing by our telemarketing team. More industries are being added. Any site shown in this directory can be replicated as many times as needed.

Telemarketers will be given access to a Dropbox folder that currently contains over 75,000 records. Many of the records contain contact information for businesses that meets two criteria: 1) The business opened in 2021 and 2) the business does not currently have a web site. Telemarketers will call these businesses one at a time.

If the concepts and ideas outlined in this document seem doable, please review the potential profit-sharing plan at customerpreview.com/profit Feel free to contact me or our Marketing Coordinator for more information. We are prepared to provide step by step tutoring and would be happy to answer any questions you may have.
